

Thiago R. Oliveira

PERSONAL SUMMARY

I am a Lecturer in Criminology at the University of Surrey. From September 2023, I will be a Lecturer in Criminology at the University of Manchester. I have a background in criminology and social data science and draw on theories from sociology, psychology, and social policy to investigate police behaviour and policing tactics and their implications to neighbourhood violence and public perceptions of the law using methods from quantitative social science, causal inference, and data science.
